BARBOUR EULOGIES

Tributes of Respect to the Memory of the Late Senator.

"HE WAS AN HONEST MAN."

Eloquent and Touching Remarks of Re presentatives Meredith, Wise. Jones. O'Ferrall, and Others.

[From Our Regular Correspondent.] WASHINGTON, February 25.—Business was suspended in the House at 3:30 o'clock today and tributes of respect were paid to the memory of the late Senator John S. Barbour, of Virginia. Friends and rela-tives of the deceased senator were in the private galleries to listen to the eulogies. The first to speak was Mr. Meredith, of the Eighth District. He represents the dis-trict from which Mr. Barbour was sent to the House for three terms and which embraces the county of Culpeper, the birthplace and home of so many of the Bar-

Mr. Meredith spoke as follows: This is to me a most solemn and serious occasion.

According to the custom of this House we are now permitted to pay a tribute to the memory of a deceased friend. My own re-cent protracted illness has prevented the memory of a decease a read of the preparation of such an address as would be suitable to the occasion or worthy of the memory of John S. Barbour. His life and character were such as to need no culogy at my hands. My greatest pride is that I could call him my friend.

The only standard by which he could be measured was fixed by the Almighty Himself. He was an honest man—the noblest work of God. Quiet and unostentations, he believed more in work than in words, and his life proved the success of his untring and unceasing efforts in behalf of his State, his country, and his party. He was the worthy descendant of a race of men who had helped to make the political history of this country, and the best years of his life were spent in developing the material interests of his native State.

After civing a sketch of his early career

He was always true to his friends and to his State. "In those dark days of Virginia's politi-"In those dark days of Virginia's political history when the banner of his party nad been trailed in the dust and when in the agony of her soul his mother State called for some one of her sons to lead her out of the wilderness be proved a veritable Moses and successfully led his party to a complete victory.

"Elected to the Senate of the United States are will be contracted."

"Elected to the Senate of the United States his sound judgment, his courteous manners, and clear comprehension enabled him to take rank with the foremost men of that august body and made him the natural and successful champion of those principles to which he had ever adhered. "He was a believer in the teachings of Jefferson and in the policy of Jackson, and had no part or lot in modern shams or subterfuges, but made honesty, integrity, and sincerity his rule of action." In all the catalogue of Virginia's illustrious sons no purer man ever served his trious sons no purer man ever served his people. No man's death was more keenly people. No man's death was more felt, and no man's memory will be more reverently cherished.

reverently cherished.

"I shall submit, Mr. Speaker, as a part of my remarks an article which appeared in The Richmond Disparon from the pen of Dr. W. W. Scott, a cultivated gentlemen and devoted friend of Mr. Barbour."

tune to meet and mingle with very many of the men who in the last two decades have brightened the pages of our country's history, imprinted themselves upon the minds and hearts of the people, set examples worthy of emulation, and carved their names in the niches of enduring fame. Some of them have been crators, who captivated the affections and swaved the passions of the people; some have been logicians, leading us step by step down into the well where truth is found and then raising us to the surface full-armed to meet the sophistries and heresies with which the world abounds; some have dazzled with their genius in the domain of hiterature or the arts and sciences, some have shone with meteorio brilliancy in the walks of humanity and the broad field of a common brotherhood, extending their sympathies in an ever-widening circle; some have risen to heights of glory on land and sea and drawn forth pæans and praises for their courage and skill, devotion and patriotism in the dread arena of war; and some, while not orators, logicians, men of letters or science, philanthropists, or warriors, have combined within themselves qualities of mind and heart which made society transcendently better because they were members of it; the republic far better because they were members of it; the republic far better because they were members of it; the republic far better because they were members of it; the republic far better because they were members of it; the republic far better because they were members of it; the republic far better because they were members of it; the republic far better because they were members of it; the republic far better because they were members of it; the republic far better because they were members of it; the republic far better because they were members of it; the republic far better because they were members of it; the republic far better because they were members of it; the republic far better because they were members of it; the republic far better because they were members of it; the republ VIRGINIA STOCK.

Barbour high in rank, the equal of the loftiest, the peer of the noblest.

VIRGINIA STOCK.

Senator Barbour sprung from true Virginia stock. His early opportunities were favorable, and he acquired aliberal education and was prepared for the bar, but he soon abandened it, and after serving, when quite a young man, several terms in the House of Delegates of his State, he entered upon a business career which marked him early in his as one of the most astute railroad managers which this country through a long series of vears produced. Taking charge of a railroad in its infancy as president, he continued in that position for a full generation of men, and when he retired the infant road of eighty-eight miles had grown to 500 in length and is ito-day part of one of the graud trunk lines of the South, over which the increasing commerce of the States through which it passes is carried and the fruits of the sections it traverses are conveyed with lightning speed to the great trade marts and commercial centres.

No man could have filled so long and so well the important position of railroad president unless he possessed in an eminent degree what is usually termed common-sense, which has been defined as "the knack of seeing things as they are and doing things as they ought to be done." And this was the supreme characteristic of Senator Barbour; this was the touchstone of his usefulness. Common-sense directed him, common sense guided him, and thus directed and guided, his judgment was almost infallible, whether engaged in conducting the affairs of a railroad, managing a political campaign, or legislating for the State or nation. He possessed a quality which, while it had not "the brilliancy of the sun, it had the fixity of the stars." His strong common sense gave him great tact, and he surmounted difficulties and removed obstacles in his course with ease before which most men would have stood appalled.

***TEACHER AND TEAINER.**

He was a teacher, too, and a trainer, and to-day a young kinsuan, who grew up under his direction while he was connected with the railroad to which I have referred, stands in the front rank in railroad circles, and is destined, if life is spared him, to rise still higher. His early lessons were learned in the office of this remarkable man whose death we mourn.

Colonel O'Ferrall then reviewed in detail Mr. Barbour's political life, including his congressional career and his success as a campaign manager in Virginia, and the debt of gratitude the people owed him, and closed his touching tribute as follows:

"Death, 'the golden key that opens the palace of eternity,' came to him when the early morning air was redolent with the lays of the birds of spring-time, and when Nature seemed to be inviting all to live and to be joyous, none to die. But how true.

"Thou hast all seasons for thise, O Death!' TEACHER AND TRAINER.

Thou hast all seasons for thine, O Death! Messages on electric wings flew throughout the domains of Virginia, and the joy and gladness of that May morn were turned to sorrow and sadness, and hearts were made to bleed and eyes were made to moisten.

"He reposes not amid the hills and valleys of the State he loved and served so well, but his memory will be kept like holy incense burning upon her altars by her daughters like vestal virgins, and his mame will live as long as the historian continues her worthy and distinguished sons."

Remerks of Mr. Wise.

Representative Wise said in part:

Mr. Speaker,—During this Congress the air has been full of farewells to the dying and mournings for the dead. Virginis had not recovered from the shock caused by the death of a lamented representative in this House when she was summoned to stand "in all the silent manliness of grief" around the bier of a senator, whom she honored for his worth and loved for his virtues. Mr. Barbour departed said-denly in this city on the 14th day of May. 1892. No note of warning had been given to prepare his people for the sorrowful event. Its nanouncement fell upon them with the startling effect of a fire-bell at night, and their hearts were filled with profound grief. There had been no long and lingering sickness, no wasting and consuming disease. On the day previous to his death he occapied his seat in the Senate chamber and was engaged as usual in the discharge of his accustomed duties. Although well advanced in years their, weight seemed to rest lightly uppn him. He exhibited then no outward signs of weakness and decay, but, on the contrary, an unwonted flow of spirits, and spiecred to be in possession of sufficient strength and vitality to endure for many years the severe labors and responsibilities of his high position. After the adjournment he retired to his home, and there, in familiar intercourse with a Salued and esteemed friend, discussed current events in Virginia. In the easy flow of conversation they took no note of the passage of the silent hours, marked by "the slow clock in stately measured chime." When the friends, wearied of the toils of the long day, parted and the "good night" was spoken, they did not dream "the inaudible and noiseless foot of time" was near to the hour when one of them would be summoned to pass over the river to rest forever in peace beneath the shade of the trees on the other side. Mr. Barbour awoke with the dawn of the day. He was troubled only for a moment with a feeling of oppression and then measured was fixed by the Almighty Himself. He was an honest man—the noblest work of God. Quiet and unostentatious, he believed more in work than in words, and his hife proved the success of his untiring and unceasing efforts in behalf of his State, his country, and his party. He was the worthy descendant of a race of men who had helped to make the political history of this country, and the best years of his life were spent in developing the material interests of his native State.

After giving a sketch of his early career in Virginia Mr. Meredith continued:

"Political honors he did not seek—they were thrust upon him. In all the relations of life he was the true and courteous gentleman. Faithful to every trust, whether as a railroad president, Representative, or Senator, he won the esteem and respect of all with whom he came in contact.

"Placed by the force of his personal character and sound sudgment in a position to have made himself wealthy by the use of knowledge obtained as president for years of one of the most important railroads of his State he positively refused to advance his own interests or totake advantage of information obtained by his official position.

The true tries and true and true trailroads of his State he positively refused to advance his own interests or totake advantage of information obtained by his official position.

The true tries and trees and respect of the United States. The father of Senator and graceful orator. Senator John S. Harbour, was a man of mark and distinction, and held many positively refused to advance his own interests or totake advantage of information obtained by his official position.

The true of the respect of the continued by his official position.

The true of the respect of the continued by his official position.

The true of the respect of the continued by his official position.

1820. After preparation in the best schools of that day he was sent to pursue a course of study in the University of Virginia and to be trained for the work of his life. He was graduated a lawyer in 1842 and commenced at once the practice of his profession in his native county. In 1852 he was elected president of the Orange and Alexandria Railroad Company (now the Virginia Midland Railway Company"), and continued in that position unward of ginia Midland Railway Company"), and continued in that position unward of thirty years. He served in this House during the Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, and Forty-ninth Congresses, and on the 20th of December, 1887, was elected to represent Virginia in the United States Senate for the term of six years from the 4th of March, 1889. In every position he was faithful and efficient in the discharge of all duties. POLITICAL LEADER.

While he was not distinguished for his skill as a public speaker and did not possess the gifts to move by the power of oractory or to please by the graces of rhetoric, he rose to the position of political leader in his State and was crowned with the highest honors which his people could bestow. No man within the borders of Virgina exercised creater influence in shaping of my remarks an article which appeared in Tur Ricmannb Disparon from the pen of Dr. W. W. Scott, a cultivated gentlemen and devoted friend of Mr. Barbour."

Str. O'Ferrail's Tribute.

Representative O'Ferrall being still confined to his house on account of the injuries from a fall more than a week ago, could not be present to-day, but Dr. Lawson obtained permission to have his remarks inserted in the Record. Following are some extracts from it:

Mr. Speaker, it has been my good fortune to meet and mingle with very marry of the men who in the last two decades have brightened the pages of our country's history, imprinted themselves upon the mends and best of the series. wisdom. Mr. Barbour never jumped to conclusions, but his opinions upon all sub-jects were formed after careful and labori jects were formed after careful and labora-ous investigation. The processes of his mind were usually accurate and all ways directed towards the ascertainment of truth and justice. He did not permit his mental vision to be clouded by prejudice nor his generous disposition to be dominated by selfishness. He was indebted largely to his good judgment for his success in life. It was "parcel of his fortunes."

He was gentle and kind towards all, and seldom, if ever, exhibited severity in his criticisms of the opinions and behef of others. Cicero defined justice to consist "in doing no injury; decency, in giving no offence." Having enjoyed with him for many vears the intimacy of established friendship, I can truthfully say that I never saw him wilfully inflict injury or intentionally give offence. His goodbreeding was always manifested in gracefully remembering the rights of others rather than gracefully insisting on his own rights. In him the elements were so mixed as to produce an even, well-balanced, and upright man. In his conduct as representative he was not ruled by faction and interest, but was filled by a passion for the glory of his whole country. He loved Virginia with filial devotion and his attention was chiefly given to the advancement of her interests, but he always preserved a due regard for the general welfare.

Mr. Barbour gave close and careful attention to all his duties, and was a painstaking, useful, and conscientious representative. He died beloved by all and left an example worthy of imitation. GENTLE AND RIND.

He was gentle and kind towards all, and an example worthy of imitation.

Other Tributes.

Representative Jones, of Virginia, confined his remarks almost entirely to a review of Mr. Barbour's political career in the State and spoke of his strong powers as an organizer, a party worker, and a leader of men. Mr. Jones had opportunities of knowing him well, for he served on the State Committee many years with him. They were also warm personal friends, and there was an attachment between them which lasted uninterruptedly to the day of Mr. Barbour's death.

Representative Tucker was another Virginia representative who spoke in highest terms of Mr. Barbour's career, delivering a carefully-prepared address.

Representative Buchanan was anxious to submit some remarks to-day, but was to submit some remarks to-day, but was called away on a matter which could not be postponed. He asked, however, the right of the House to insert in the Record a tribute to Mr. Barbour's memory.

FIFTY-SECOND CONGRESS. Successful Filibustering on the Part of the House Silver-Men. (By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

the Heuse Silver-Men.

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

Washington, D. C., February 26.—Sex.

ATE.—The Senate bill to authorize the Montgomery Bridge Company to construct a bridge across the Alabama river near Montgomery, Ala., was reported from the Committee on Commerce and passed, Mr. Vest making a special request to that effect in order to oblige Representative Herbert, who has been called to the Cabinet.

Notices were given that the Senate would be asked to suspend business in order that fitting tributes might be paid to-day at 4:30 P. M. to the memory of the late Representative F. B. Spinola, of New York, and Wednesday at 3 P. M. to the memory of the late Senator Gibson, of Louisiana.

The legislative appropriation bill was taken up, and the amendment was agreed to appropriating $75,000 for the purchase of George Bancroft's library of historical manuscripts and printed books and pamphlets.

After the adoption of two minor amendments the bill was passed, and Mr. Dawes moved that the Senate insist on its amendments and ask a conference. He said he knew that the motion was unusual, but that he had made it at the request of a member of the House Committee on Appropriations. Of course he (Mr. Dawes) could not state publicly the reasons given, but he supposed that they were apparent to every senator. The motion was agreed to, and Messra Dawes, Allison, and Cockrell were appointed conferrees on the part of the Senate.

Mr. Sherman's motion to go into executive session was voted down—21 to 26—and after considering, without final action, local bills relating to the District, business was suspended, so, that fitting tribute might be paid to the memory of the late Representative Spinola, of New York, Resolutions expressing the profound sorrow of the Senate at the death of General Spinola, and, eclaring that the country had lost in him a galiant soldier, an able, faithful representative in Congress, and an esteemed and patriotic citizen were offered by Mr. Hill and were unanimously adopted.

After eulogies by Messra Hill and His-cock, the Senate at 5:30, as a further mark of respect to the decessed, adjourned until Monday at 11 A. M.

Monday at 11 A. M.

BOUSE OF REPERSENTATIVES.

Mr. Holman renewed the request made by him yesterday, that the Senate amendments to the sundry civil appropriation bill, with one exception, be formally non-concurred in and a conference agreed upon. The exception was the Sherman bond amendment, and Mr. Holman proposed that when the conference should report upon other amendments one day should be devoted to debate upon that proposition. Mr. Hatch said he would make no objection provided a similar course should be taken with the authoption bill, and that it should be sent to conference, but objection was made to this request, whereupon Mr. Hatch emphatically objected to Mr. Holman's proposition.

position.

Mr. Holman moved that the House go into Committee of the Whole for consideration of general appropriation bills.

Notwithstanding Mr. Hatch's opposition Mr. Holman's motion was agreed to—yeas,

Mr. Holman's motion was agree to year, 131; nays, 193.

The first bill on the calendar was the Indian-appropriation bill. This bill Mr. Holman requested should be passed over for the present. Mr. Hatch objected and the committee was compelled to rise in order to submit the question to the House, which decided that the bill should be passed over. The committee having resumed its session the sundry-civil bill was taken up.

sumed its session the sundry-civit bill was taken up.

There are in all 207 amendments to the bill. Mr. Holman desired that all (except the Sherman amendment) upon which there was to be debate be non-concurred in, but Mr. Bland, as leader of the opposition to the Sherman amendment, objected until it was agreed that that amendment should be after debate also non-concurred in. This suggestion of Mr. Bland's raised the antagonism of Mr. Cockran, and no agreement was arrived at. The silvermen then resorted to fillibustering tactics, which were of effect, and after a speech by Mr. Bland the bill went over without action.

action.

The committee then rose, and public business having been suspended, the House proceeded to pay tribute of respect to the memory of the late Senator John S. Barbour, of Virginia.

Bartour, of Virginia.

After eulogistic remarks by Messrs,
Meredith, Wise, Milliken, Kendall, Tucker, and Jones, the House, as a further mark of respect to the memory of the deceased, at 5 o'clock adjourned.

HAWAIIAN TREATY DEAD. Any Rate.

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

Washington, D. C., February 25.—The Hawaiian treaty, it is thought, is dead for the session. This is reluctantly conceded, even by its friends. The action of the Senate to day in refusing to go into executive session, though that action doubtless had some reference to the Hanchett circuit-judge nomination, was also accepted as a conclusive indication that the treaty would be shelved for the balance of the session. The treaty matter can, of course, be considered at the extra session, which will convene immediately after the present Congress dies, but unless some marked change occurs there is believed to be no prospect of action upon it during the life of the prevent administration. Possibly the knowledge of this disposition on the part of the Senate had some reflex influence on the action of the House.

There was to have been a meeting of the Wavs and Means Committee of the House to day to consider the Springer resolution declaratory of the sense of the House of Representatives that neither the Hawaiian nor any other treaty of annexation should be made authout the consent of Congress. [By telegraph to the Dispatch.]

Representatives that neither the Hawaiian nor any other treaty of annexation should be made without the consent of Congress as a whole, but it did not take place. One or the Republican committeemen said that his colleagues are unitedly against the resolution. The Republicans, he said, were satisfied, on an examination of precedents, especially of the debate in 1796 over the Jay treaty and of letters of Jefferson, that the proposition that the Pousemust be consulted in advance of ratification by the President and the Senate of a treaty of annexation was not maintainable. treaty of annexation was not maintainable. He predicted that the resolution would be permitted to fall to the ground. The Democratic members are still examining the subject, but it does not seem likely that the resolution will be pushed.

THE FEDERAL TREASURY. No Occasion for Fear of Bankrunter, but the Situation Serious.

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

Washington, D. C., February 25.—Secretary Foster, of the Treasury Department, was before the Ways and Means Committee of the House for nearly two hours this morning explaining the condition of the Treasury. The hearing was conducted with closed doors, and all newspaper men were excluded, the members of the committeesaying that if the hearing were public the agitation of the financial question and possibly the publication of sensational reports might give rise to needless alarm. As might have been expected, bowever, the result of closing the hearing was to give rise to more apprehension than would probably have been the case if the hearing had been open and free. The statement of Secretary Foster was to the effect that there was no occasion for tear of a bankrupt Treasury, but he admitted that the situation was one demanding serious consideration, and that his estimates of the available cash in the Treasury at the close of the present fiscal year would need to be scaled down to some extent. Mr. Foster thought there would be a surplus in the Treasury July 1st, next of nearly $17,000,009. His estimate in the report herefolore sent to the Committee on the Condition of the Treasury fixed the surplus at $20,000,000. The probabilities for the fiscal year 1894 were that in the absence of any change in the situation there would be a deficit in the Treasury on July 1, 1894. the Situation Serious. (By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

an on July 1, 1894. THIRD-PARTY CONFERENCES. General Field, the Beyerleys, and Others Present-A Full State Ticket.

Present—A Full State Ticket.

(Special telegram to the Dispatch.)

Washington, February 25.—The Thirdparty advocates from Virginia who have been here this week are said to have held several conferences looking to political plans in the State this year. Among those present were: General James G. Field, Colonel Robert Beverley, Brad. Beverley,
Beverley Turner, Editor Pierson, Haskins
Hobson, Major Richard V. Gaines, and Colonel Porter. Most of those named figured in the campaign last year which was made by the Populists in behalf of Weaver and Field. It is understood to be the purpose of these people to put a full State ticket in the field.

WHAT THEY COUNT ON.

what they count on.

In fact, they have been talking around Washington in a way that indicates they count on inactivity on the part of the Republicans, and in that event of capturing the bulk of that vote for their party. It is the only way they can hope to make any sort of fight, for it will be remembered that Weaver and Field polled less than 13,000 votes in the entire State in 1892.

DR. WILBOR'S

EMULSION

PURE COD-LIVER OIL WITH PHOSPHATES.

Cures coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, debility, and wasting diseases, and all scrofulous humors. Let those who languish under the fatal severity of our climate through any pulmonary complaint, or even those who are in decided consumption, by no means despair. There is a safe and sure remedy at hand and one easily tried. Wilbor's Compound of Cod-Liver Oil and Phosphates, without possessing the very nauseating flavor of the oil as formerly used, is endowed by the Phosphates with a healing property which renders the Oil doubly efficacious. Remarkable testimonials of its efficacy can be shown. Sold by all drugfe 21-Tu, Th&Su5tlpar

LOST, STRAYED, AND FOURD. I OST, FROM 1217 WEST ETCH, black and white; one black spot on root of tail; side-saddle black on shoulder; black head, with very small white streaks down face; one ear torn out by barb-wire fence some time back. Any information of the same will be thankfully received at the above No, or at new City Hall. Answers to the name of "Clira" Litoral reward.

TO-DAY'S DISPATCH

THE COMING INAUGURAL (Illustrated)-The

ginia Troops and Clubs, &c.
THE IDLE PRINCESS (Illustrated)-By Winnie Davis-What the Southern Lady Did for Nogroes Before the War-Her Hospitals, Creches, and Bible Readings-Social and Intellectual Life on the Plantations.

sion that Was Attended with Many Difficulties-How Leslie Spence Brought His Brother's Remains to Richmond. IS PEAR IN A SOLDIER COWARDICE ? "-

Marcus J. Wright, L. L. Lomax, and Others. MEN HAVE THE SAY-It is for Them to Decide Whether Crinoitne Shall Be Worn-Lenten Entertainments for the Library-Literary-Club Meeting-Small Parties and Personals. HE LANDS OF BATH COUNTY-Some Reasons Why Their Average Assessed Value Appears Low-A Reply to Senator Stubbs.

LANKY SCRIBE-Some Hitherto Unwritten Leaves from His Note-Book-The Happiest Man in Richmond, &c.

Made a Great Fortune for His Owner. EDITOR'S BOOK TABLE-Froebel and His System of Education by Self-Activity-"The

of the Newest Publications. REEN GOODS-The Northern Neck Flooded with Confidential Circulars.

teristic of the New Woollens THE IDLER'S BAD MISTAKE-He Uses Ratting Main Ticket for His Visiting-Card-

EASON FOR FISHING YARNS-With the Approach of Spring the Tackle is Being Gotten Out and Big Stories Revised for Further Use. WILL SOON BEGIN SHIPPING-How the Vir-

That He Went from Virginia to the West ours had been selected as the place and the gathering. The local association will soon hold a meeting to elect delegates to the St. Louis convention and arrange for their

Would Fill the Place Well.

"'Squire" Barney Frischkorn, of Henrico county, is a candidate for the position of deputy collector of this port. He has had seven years' experience with Mr. James T. Vaughan, and during this time he has devoted his energies chiefly to the entering and clearing of vessels; therefore he is well qualified for the office which he seeks. As a Democrat he has served both in the city and county committees and has been a delegate to every convention held in the State since 1882.

Nothing so assists a pupil in his musical studies as a piano in perfect order. No piano will constantly stay in tune unless the services of a competent tuner are called in several times a year. We have looking for bargains. We serve both the buyer and seller,

Grand Democratic Pageant—The Scene When Cleveland Kisses the Bible—Our Vir-

HOW HE GOT THE BODY HOME -A Sad Mis-

Views of Warriors-Statements of Generals Early, Bradley T. Johnson, Fitzhugh Lee, CARD FROM SCULPTOR EZEKIEL-His Position with Respect to the Private Soldiers' Monument Work.

GREAT HORSE'S RECORD-How Hamble tonian Was Bought for a Mere Song and Children of the King," by Crawford-Notices

ctety Girl During This Season-Picturesque Dinner Totlets-Oddity the Chief Charac-

What Constitutes a Pretty and Small Footginia Exhibit Will Be Forwarded to Chicago-A Foreign Commissioner to Visit Us. THE LATE SENATOR BARBOUR-Speeches in Eulogy of Him by Congressmen Wise, O'Ferrall, Meredith, and others. ANOTHER ATLANTA TRAGEDY-Chapter

Number Four or Five in the Cracker City's THE MAN WHO SHOT MACKAY-It Appears

Will Not lie Held in Richmond.
The annual convention of the Southern Wholesale-Grocers' Association will not take place in Richmond, as was hoped.
The vice-president, Mr. E. G. Leigh, Jr., received a tolegram yesterday from Mr. J.
H. Martin, the president, stating that St.
Louis had been selected as the placement the

The Petersburg Index Appeal says to-day that the firm Meyers, of Richmond, who purchased the entire dry-goods stock of Rockwell & Barbam, 49 Sycamore street. Petersburg, have closed the store and will remove the stock to Richmond, where it will be sold. This is a correct statement as far as we could find out, and the sale in this city will probably commence in a few days.

Send to us.

MANLY B. RAMOS & Co.,

903 Main street. The Purchasers Are flere and can furnish the money to clinch a trade.

Jaceson Brandt & Co.,
No. 1103 east Main street.

To the Editor of the Despatch:

In the interview published in the Drawarc of February 23d you quote Supremachancellor W. W. Blackwell, of the Knights of Pythias, as saying that the Chancellor-Commander of one of the German lodges in this city favored the adoption of the English ritual.

There being but one German lodge in this city (Germania, No. 15), and I being the chancellor-commander. I desire to state that I never exchanged one word with Mr. Blackwell. The idea that I tavoring the adoption of the English ritual in my lodge, is entirely erroneous. By publishing the above you will greatly oblige. Very respectfully.

Chancellor-Commander Germania Lodge, No. 15, K. of P.

As an Evidence

As an Evidence that real estate is looking up we learn that our energetic and enterprising friends in this line. Messrs. Cobb & Wingfield, are preparing for what we, they, and all the balance of us look for—an active market. They, seeing what is ahead, have arranged to meet all demands and have employed, in addition to their present full force, Mr. D. C. Barraud, who has for a long time past been the popular and efficient city salesman of Messrs, H. L. Staples & Co., to take charge of that branch of their business.

Mr. Barrand was for a long time a promi-nent lawyer of Norfolk, Va., and since his residence here has won many warm and in-fluential friends in addition to those who fluential friends in addition to those who welcomed him here at their earnest solicitation. In addition to this department they have engaged the services of Mr. Frank A. Hundley, who is a well-known brother of General Hundley, and who for eight years was the farm salesman for Messrs. R. B. Chaffin & Co. While Messrs. Cobb & Wingfield have heretofore been well represented, with this well-known and popular addition it appears to us that they must stem the current and reach the reward they so richly deserve.

Special Train Service to Washington Du-

The Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad Company will sell Round-Trio Tickets to washington March 2d, 3d, and 4th at $4.85, good to return until March 7th, inclusive. Special rates for military

In addition to the three daily trains, as per schedule, a special will leave Elba (head of Broad street) at 11:30 P. M., March 3d, reaching Washington at 6 A. M. March 4th, and leaving Washington at 6 P. M. March 4th, arriving in Richmond about 10:30 P. M. same date. There will also be a special train leaving Washington at midnight March 4th, arriving in Richmond about 6 o'clock Sunday morning. Those who return by this train will have an opportunity of witnessing the magnificent display of fireworks.

Always Ready and Willing to furnish reliable information, time-tables, maps and literature treating on the tables, maps and iterature treating on the western and southwestern country gratis. Also will take pleasure in quoting very lowest ticket rates to points west of the Mississippi river. Excursion tickets to Mexico. California, and Oregon at reduced rates. Persons intending to make a westers trip will consult their own interest by calling and provided in the country of the results of the country will consult their own interest by calling on or writing us for full information. Through cars, quick time, and low rates are some features afforded passengers who travel by the Missouri Pacific Railway System, J. P. McCann, eastern travelling agent, 657 north Main street, Elmira, N. Y., or 391 Broadway, New York; W. E. Hout, general eastern passanger agent, 391 Y., or 391 Broadway, New 1012, Hoyt, general eastern passenger agent, 391 Broadway, New York.

INEZ, VA., February 17, 1893. To the S. Galeski Optica. Company, 915 east Main street, Richmond:

Gentlemen,—The glasses are to hand and are entirely satisfactory, fitting per-ectly, and improving my sight wonderfully.

Please accept my thanks for the prompt and business-like manner in which you have served me.

I shall invariably recommend you to ail who need anything in your line.

I am yours truly,
JOSEPH L. SEELTON,
(Inventor and patentee of the Shelton

The last halt session of the music school of Miss Jennie Tucker has closed and the progress made by the pupils in both the instrumental and vocal departments is most gratifying. The vecal department is under the able supervision of Miss Lovie Blick, a talented vocalist recently of Norfolk, who has demonstrated her ability as an artiste in this line. There are a few more vacancies for pupils in this school.

In Meyer's advertisement this morning a sale of silks is advertised for 52c, a yard which should be 50c, a yard. Ladies should read it, It's interesting.

Upright Plones Cheap. We have several Pianos of the best makes that have been slightly used. Will sell very low for each or on easy pay-ments. Manny B. Ramos & Co.,

WITH REDUCTIONS

our immense surplus stock of SEPARATE TROUSERS.

MEN'S PANTS.

Main street next to corner Ninth.

After our usual custom we shall "top off" the season with a "great go" in

We were never so well "heeled" for a special sale. Taught by experience, get you to wearing OUR PANTS—it'll be "good-by" to custom tailors.—

The whole stock gets a shock—MEN'S, BOYS', and CHILDREN'S SEPA-

ALL SIZES. HUNDREDS OF PATTERNS.

BOYS' LONG PANTS.

Children's Short Pants

The recent public announcement, in its official organ, by one of the larger companies, that in 1853 an effort would be made by that company to write a larger business than had ever been written by it or any other company in a single year, would seem to indicate that the strife for bigness which has been characteristic of the business for the past few years on the part of some companies, with its attendant evil of large bonuses and robates, would be continued for at least another year. This is a strife in which the Northwestern has never had, and will not have, a part: being entirely satisfied with the distinction of being the best company—not the largest. The members of this company, as evidenced by the hundreds of unsolicited commendatory letters, are better satisfied with the fact that for twenty years no company has furnished insurance to them at so small a cost, or given so large returns upon investment policies, as has the Northwestern, than they would be to belong to the "largest company" or the company writing the "largest business" at the expense of their dividends. Notwithstanding the fact that the ratio of cost of procuring new insurance for this company has not been increased for ten years, the growing volume of business written year by year is exceedingly satisfactory.

The Chesapeake and sell round-trip teckets in Washington and return the inauguration. I have from Richmond exity come will be made. These trip, For military come will be made. These trip, For military come will be made. The Chesapeake and surplement the inauguration. I have from Richmond exity come will be made. The Chesapeake and surplement to make the part of some company and will be made. The Chesapeake and surplement to make the part of the company and will be made. The Chesapeake and surplement to make the part of the company and will be made. The Chesapeake and surplement to make the part of the company and will be made. The Chesapeake and surplement to make the part of the company and the part of the Chest in Washington and re

Special Notice. In anticipation of an active market this spring we are rearranging our Register of Property for Sale. We would prefer representing you entirely, but as you are a generous people and disposed to help all we ask you to place your property with us we ask you to place your property with as provided, however, you give us the selling figures. We ask to be placed on an equal footing. We want all grades of property for sale. Call in and swell our list. CHEWNING & ROSE, Real Estate Agents, Auctioneers, and Brokers, No. 6 north Tenth street.

Rev. H. M. Wharton, D. D., has arranged for a special train of Pullman cars to leave Eattimore about the middle of June to make a ten-days' trip to the World's Fair, including, also, a visit to Niazara and down the Hudson. The party will be largely made up of Virgimans. Several in Richmond have already entered their names, Mr. Wharton is stopping at Mr. T. J. Todd's, 524 west Grace street; so if you wish any information you would do well to write or call and see him.

Few stores in the State can show so fine a list of Pianos and Organs from which to select as ours can, and the prices and terms are made to suit the pockets of all buyers. Gld pianos and organs are taken in steham exchange at fair valuation.

MANLY B. RAMOS & Co. Main street next to corner Ninth,

The Life-Insurance Company of Virginia. of this city, offers a ten-year 10 per cent, investment secured by bond and mortgage on improved real estate.

Six per cent, per annum is payable in cesh in semi-annual instalments, guaranteed by the Planters' National Bank; the balance of 4 per cent, per annum is pay-able at the end of the term. The investment is a definite contract, a pure investment, and therefore no medical For further information apply at home

Fine Old Whiskey.

I have recently purchased 20 barrels of 5-year-old Monticelio Purc Rye Whiskey. You will find it to be an exceptionally good article, and I offer same at $4 per gallon, which is very low, considering the age and quaity.

"Phone 350, 528 east Broad street,

I want my friends and the public generally to know that I have just opened a first-class grocery and will be glad to share a portion of their patronage. Respectfully,

W. W. ABBENATE;

Twenty-first and Broad streets,

(formerly with Julien Binford.)

Regular schedule resumed on Monday, February 27th. Trains leave Richmond and Danville station at 3:19 P. M. and 4:45 P. M. daily, except Sundays, and connect with steamers for Baitimore.

The Snow-Church Company continues to meet with success. Already seventy leading wholesale establishments are collecting their slow accounts through the Richmond office of this great agency. Our merchants find this company a valuable adjunct to their credit department.

Old papers for sale at 25 cents a hundred Something Worth Knowing That Tags from Dill's Best Tobacco will bring you 50 cents per hundred at factory.

G. Dill, 2020 Franklin street, Richmond, Old papers for sale at 25 cents a hundred at Disearch office.

Bring them in and get your money. Joseph choose from, such as— 38-inch All-Wool Henriette 38-inch All-Wool Chevi 38-inch All-Wool 138-inch Changeable Diagona 38-inch Mixed Beige Su right here that will set way and the latest weaves and your money can buy. O prises everything that the inclines to, embracing so twenty-five distinct wasses. nearly three hundred al-

Whipcord and are among the most favored range of shades are worthy of the All shades Crystal Bengalite match the Spring Dress Goods at $1 a yard.

the new-style capes, 1; yards wide, only 85c., all shades.

An unusual bargain sale of Black

Very fine Silk-Finished German Her rietta and fine French Serge, both ful 38 to 40 inches wide in the blacket of raven black. They are 67c. values for

Our Offer at 750.

Extra fine Silk-Pinished German Hearietta, in rich crow black and deep mourning black, full 46 inches wide, of very rich finish, warranted to west as long as the cloth lasts and never unit rusty. The same quality has often self at $1.

Juckson Brandt & negotiates sales and loans, brokers, No. 1103 east Mannate

When she was a Child, she smed for cancers

at LEVY & DAVING

EVERY DENTIST readily gums, and sweet breath that

IF IN NEED OF A REME a flad Cough or Cohl, to Expectorant, a useful of house, because of its Lung and Throat troub

BROAD WED OLL COM RICHMOND

New Dress

new and very pretty Goods at popular price are now being displayed in on both floors, making every

The New 250. G

Iridescent Diagonals, d the one-dollar goods almoreproduced with the except cotton in the warp. the difference after the dr All the spring-shade off-

PANTALOONS. An extra pair never comes in amiss. Just now they will Ladies, you should have help some of you out of a tight place. At the same time it will do away with our very superior quality and Silk to match the new shades in English Costume Cloth for Great Value at 500.

LOST, NEAR THE ACADE.

In the dollar-twelve-and-a-half cent year of Masio, a POCKET-BOOK, and it of Henrietta, 46 inches wide, will be graph ticket. Finder will be squably rewarded if he returns the same to W. B. JORDAN, No. 10130 east Main.

A. SAKS & COMPANY

A. SAKS & COMPANY

Miller & Raccas.

MILLER RHOADS

Each Depart

Wondrous Value at 37 An exceptionally large vanity to

All these weaves in the New 50c. Diess ( we have improved the cut—and perfected the fit. The variety of patterns is greater—the designs choicer—and we go at it with a will—as YOU will. Once various popular colors.

Dress Goods at $1 a yard. All shades of Silk Velvet to